

December Movie Is 'Scrooge'

Scrooge will be the film shown at this month's movie and dance which will be held in the Gymnasium on Sunday, Dec. 28. In keeping with the spirit of the season, the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society has announced that students of the College and their dates will be admitted to the dance for a small charge.

The Committee in charge of the affair plans to present a second feature length film in addition to the film version of Dicken's classic. Frank Gallagher, chairman of the movie-dances, also stated that the committee prefers that all students attending the dances bring dates if possible because too many stags create an undesirable situation.

The record dances in the gymnasium are conducted by the following committee of the Dramatic Society: Ned McNeil, Stanley Stone, Edward Clarke, Austin Byrd and James O'Neill.

Quarterly Deadline Set For January 15

Contribution deadline for the next issue of the Evergreen Quarterly, scheduled to appear in late February, has been set at January 15. All short stories, articles and poems submitted by students should be in the hands of the editors by this time.

The first issue of the current semester was distributed to students and members of the faculty early this month. The guest article was written by Dr. William McHugh, professor of Psychology, on the subject Sleep. The remainder of the articles, stories and poems were written by members of the student body.

Students may turn contributions in to John H. Plunkett or William Heffner in THE GREYHOUND office, Dudley M. Shoemaker in the Student Council office or Mr. G. Edward Herzer, of the English Department.

Concert and Swing Bands Seeking More Musicians

Mr. Felice Iula, director of music at Loyola College, has announced that he will call a meeting immediately after the Christmas holidays for the purpose of forming a concert swing orchestra and a swing band.

Solicitation of members has already begun and to date 15 men have expressed their willingness to participate in the two groups. Four violinists, three saxophone, three trumpet, and three clarinet men, along with one drummer and a trombone player, compose the talent of the students who have joined thus far.

Mr. Iula hopes to have a 25-piece concert orchestra and a 16-piece swing outfit. If enough applicants are present at the first meeting, a schedule will be worked out for rehearsals. Mr. Iula hopes to begin rehearsals as soon after the mid-term exams as possible.

After outlining his plans Mr. Iula said, "I hope enough students will show interest in the orchestras. A college the size of Loyola should

Sodality Union Plans Dance

Emphasizing the social side of the Sodality Union of Baltimore, Mount St. Agnes, Notre Dame of Maryland, Loyola and the Newman Clubs of Goucher and Johns Hopkins Colleges will combine forces to sponsor the Union's annual dance on Friday, January 31, in the Evergreen Gymnasium.

Tickets are priced at $2.50 per couple; dress is semi-formal and Carl Rehling's orchestra will supply the music.

Proceeds realized will be used to defray expenses for the Christmas party given the Orphans of St. Elizabeth's on December 11.

A committee made up of members of Union College and headed by Edward Hart of Loyola, has been formed to take charge of the affair. Assisting Hart from Loyola are Thomas Daniels, Louis Roche, Frank Kunkel and Thomas Ostendorf.

Council Discusses N.S.A Public Address System

Discussion of the Constitution and By-Laws of the National Students Association, debate on the distribution of basketball tickets and the possibility of installing a public address system in the cafeteria were the main features of this month's Student Council meetings.

Several regulations inconsistent with the policies of Loyola were pointed out in the by-laws of the Students Association and the question was raised whether or not ratification of the constitution implied approval of the by-laws. (See editorial, page 4.)

Kourey Introduces Discussion

At a later meeting of the Council, Winston Kourey, Loyola representative to the organization, reported that he and John C. Evelius had in-

Rector's Christmas Message

Greetings to the Students

The dark of the night covered the land when Christ was born. The timbers of an old shack on a hillside were the walls within which Christ was born. The trough of the ox was the first cradle, and the straw food of the ox was the first bed on which Christ was laid. The first to adore him was the young Jewish virgin, Mary, his mother. The second was Joseph, the Carpenter of Nazareth, his foster father.

All the luxury, all the power, all the pomp that all the world could summon as a welcome to Christ on the night of his birth were rigidly excluded by God. There was but one manifestation permitted by God, perhaps out of kindness toward the Angels themselves who must have begged it. The Angels of God traversed the infinite distance from heaven to earth to sing the first carol for the new born Jesus. None of the rulers, none of the rich, none of the wise men were allowed by God to hear the song of the Angels. Only the crude shepherds dozing in the darkness of the night were chosen by God to see with their startled eyes and hear with their trembling ears the advent of the angelic choir at the time of the advent of divinity on earth.

To what does all of this count up? Simply, to all that Jesus Christ taught from the crib of Bethlehem till the cross of Calvary till the mount of the Ascension. Simply, to all that the Catholic Church has been teaching through the brief years of the long centuries that stretch from the first Christmas in Bethlehem to the present Christmas in Baltimore.

The virtues taught by Jesus are those I would wish, and the joys of the night of Christ's birth are those I most heartily pray, may be granted to the students, their wives and parents, to the Alumni and their families, to the beloved friends and benefactors of Loyola College.

FRANCIS XAVIER TALBOT, S. J.

'Brideshead' Proofs Presented To College

The final proofs of Brideshead Revisited, best selling novel of Evelyn Waugh, were presented to Loyola College by the author on occasion of his acceptance of an honorary Doctor of Literature degree from Loyola early this month. They were received by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., recently inaugurated President of Loyola.

Bound in red leather with Mr. Waugh's coat of arms engraved on the cover, the proofs bear numerous corrections in the author's hand. They were sent to the author by means of diplomatic pouch while he was on duty as a Captain of Commandos in Yugoslavia during the War and were dropped to him by parachute.

Fifty-Five Men In Rifle Club

The newly formed Loyola Rifle Club, which recently received a $60 loan from the Student Council, is making rapid progress in its organization program.

A charter member of the National Rifle Association of America, the club already has 55 members. It has obtained the use of an indoor range at Calvert Hall in Walbrook, and hopes to get a more convenient range soon. It is also negotiating a loan of 10 rifles, together with ammunition, targets, and cleaning equipment, from the War Department. The club likewise plans to get a spotting telescope for range work.

The Rifle Club provides its members with a place to shoot; free ammunition, targets, and cleaning equipment for all official firing; substantial reduction in cost of all extra ammunition; active competition and a chance to represent Loyola in intercollegiate matches; opportunity to borrow a gun; and instruction in shooting and safe handling of both low- and high-powered rifles.

Stanley S. Stone is president of the Rifle Club, and Mr. Henry R. Hergenroeder is moderator.

roduced discussion of the by-laws at an NSA convention at Howard College, Washington, D. C. Nothing definite was decided at that time but the regional office has asked for information on the by-laws from national headquarters in Madison and the matter will be discussed at the next meeting to be held tomorrow at the University of Baltimore.

A more efficient system for distributing tickets to home basketball games was also discussed. Representatives of the Athletic Association, Thomas Gisriel, president of the organization and Richard Hartman, publicity director, reported that although distribution at the first few games was not ideal, the system was now perfected.

Reitz Open For Suggestions

Mr. Emil G. Reitz, director of Athletics, was said to be open for suggestions as to how the system might be made more efficient.

James F. O'Neill has been named chairman of a committee to investigate the cost and advisability of installing a public address system in the cafeteria. The committee will present its report to the Council immediately after the holidays.

Round Table Talk Ends Fall Series

The last in a series of discussions on Labor Problems and the Achievement in Industrial Peace will be held this evening at 8 p. m. in the library reading room.

This concludes the Fall Lectures Series and will consist of a round table discussion of the facts and opinions that have been set forth by the prominent lecturers during the season.

Church, Management and Labor are the three divisions to be represented in tonight's discussion. The Rev. John F. Cronin, S. S., Melvin G. Hodgkinson and Frank L. Bender, respectively, are the authorities to speak in this evening's program.

Felice Iula

have both types of musical organizations. I believe they will be a great help to the college in its social functions."

Rehearsals and meetings of the orchestras will be held in room 1D where the Glee Club now holds its rehearsals.

NFCCS Sponsors January Dance At Evergreen

by Charles Kimmel

The National Federation of Catholic College Students will sponsor an informal dance in the Loyola College gymnasium on Saturday, January 10, from 8:30 till 1. The admission price, though not yet established, will be "moderate," according to James Bailey, Loyola's senior delegate to the organization.

The affair, which will mark the first social event of the New Year at Evergreen, is part of an active program to raise $10,000 for World Student Relief. Recently joined by Loyola College, the NFCCS is pledged to unite the efforts of Catholic Colleges in combatting the spread of communism in the educational institutions of Europe.

Orchestra Undecided

The dance will be open to all, and a local orchestra, still to be contracted, will furnish the music. Refreshments will be served.

To stimulate interest, a radio television set and other prizes will be disposed of during the evening entertainment. This will be conducted by members of the NFCCS from Notre Dame College, Mount St. Agnes College, and the Newman clubs.

Bailey Chairman

Bailey, chairman of the dance committee, will be assisted by Gene Corrigan, one of the junior representatives to the federation.

Books were distributed to all the members of the Student Body who were present at the cheer rally in the Gym by the members of the Student Council. All students were urged to dispose of at least two books.

January Courses In Night School

The Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., has announced several new courses to be offered during the second term of the Night School beginning January 19, 1948. Registration, now open, will close on January 17.

The course in Philosophy of Communism will be presented, and will include the historical background as well as the moral, civil and religious aspects. The Rev. Russell Wilson, S. J., will conduct the course.

In addition to this, four other new courses are being inaugurated in the night sessions. Mr. Harry W. Kirwin is conducting the course in the History of the Far East in Modern Times, an instruction aimed at giving the background of present problems.

George Sokolsky, nationally known newspaper columnist, will be the guest speaker for the course.

Three other courses comprise the new changes. Trigonometry, American Literature from 1890 to the Present Day and Psychology of Character will be offered. The latter is held at St. Agnes Hospital.

Members of the Counter Intelligence Corps from Camp Holabird will attend the courses in Communism and History of the Far East. However, these subjects are open to all students.

Meet The Faculty:

Walsh To Receive Degree; Sets Classics Schedule

Mr. John V. Walsh, recently appointed moderator of the revived Classics Club, outlined the schedule of the club for the year last week.

The program includes lectures by special guests, papers delivered by the members, and open seminars for public attendance.

At present, Mr. Walsh is finishing the requirements for a doctor's degree at Hopkins for his work in the field of cuneiform script translation.

In connection with these studies, he expects to take part in expeditions to Jerusalem, sponsored by the American Schools of Research.

Albright Is Instructor

The courses he is taking at Hopkins include Semitic languages, Archeology and Ancient History. They are under the direction of the internationally famous Professor Walter J. Albright.

Before coming to Loyola, Mr. Walsh taught at Regis and Loyola High Schools, Fordham University, and Notre Dame University of Staten Island.

Other Features Planned

Other features of the Classics Club schedule will include talks on famous personalities of the past, such as Tacitus, Horace and Livy; spot lectures of two or three minutes in length of topics of current interest, and the publication of a journal.

Weekly meetings are held in Room 2S at 10:40, according to David K. McManus, President of the society. A drive for new members will be opened after the Christmas recess.

E. Cary Nalle & Co., Inc.

8-10 South St.

LEXington 1415 - 1416

GENERAL INSURANCE

J. V. Brooks, Jr. L. B. Brooks

We take pleasure in announcing the appointment of

JOHN HALL

as our

LOYOLA REPRESENTATIVE

see him on the campus, or in our store on Saturdays.

K. KATZ & SONS

THE STORE FOR MEN

7 and 9 E. Baltimore St.

The Boone Elder Co.

WINES & SPIRITS

12 W. Eager St.

VE. 6866-7 Balto.-1, Md.

We Deliver

Meyer & Thalheimer

STATIONERS
PRINTERS

19 N. Howard Street

Dean Names Eight For Debate Honors

Eight members of the Robert Bellarmine Debating Society have been nominated for acceptance into Tau Kappa Alpha, National Honorary Forensic Fraternity. The Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., announced their names last week.

Those nominated are Dudley M. Shoemaker, Terrence E. Burke, Edward F. Shea, Francis X. Gallagher, Winston T. Kourey, J. Allan Panuska, Francis A. Pacienza and John C. Evelius.

Shoemaker, Shea and Evelius have all served as president of the Society in the past. The others nominated have participated in inter-collegiate debating during the past year.

Football Pools

(Continued from page 8, col. 2)

check his parlay card before he calls the next play." (Notre Dame students, according to the same magazine, spend $1,500 per week on pools.)

Distributors, of course, win every time. A scale of bonuses and percentages is used for the big pools that would do justice to big business. As a matter of fact, pools are big business. One local operator has an average take of $30 to $50 per week; the "big stockholders," of course, receive salaries in figures that would make the president of many a large corporation envious.

Where does all this green stuff come from? Well, as was mentioned above, Loyola students bet a total of over $3,200 on football pools last season.

McPherson's

HABERDASHERS

Redwood and Light Streets

Govans Music Shop

Popular Records — Classical

5609 York Road

Belmont 2042

HEAT . .

EAT . . .

ENJOY . .

Presented by
SEIDEL & COMPANY
Baltimore-2, Maryland

Records

Radios

Music Mart
EDMONDSON VILLAGE

Players

Television

Payne & Merrill

Outfitters for Men and Boys
315 NORTH CHARLES STREET
BALTIMORE... MARYLAND

Alumni Make Annual Retreat

ALUMNI RETREATANTS pose on the steps of the Mauresa Retreat House at the conclusion of the annual Loyola Alumni Association exercises on December 7. The January Senior Class also participated in the retreat. Father Lloyd, Rector of Mauresa, appears at the extreme left. The Rev. John Brady, S. J., was retreat master.

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

Notes

Dr. Joseph F. Sadusk, Jr., ex '30, is now associated with The Prudential Insurance Company of America in Newark, New Jersey, as Associate Medical Director in charge of the Employees' Health Service.

Dr. Sadusk is a graduate of Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, was an instructor and assistant professor of Medicine at Yale University and served in the U. S. Army Medical Corps from 1942 to 1946, and was discharged with the rank of full Colonel. He holds the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Typhus Commission Medal. He is a member of many medical societies and is a contributing editor to Cecil's Textbook of Medicine.

January Billing

Shortly after the first of the year members will receive the Association bill for 1948 Dues. Beginning with this billing several important changes will be made. As you have already learned, the Alumni Association will no longer bill members for THE GREYHOUND. Notices to this effect have already been sent to members by the staff. The officers and executive committee urge all members to cooperate with the staff by continuing their subscription to this excellent publication. All communications regarding subscriptions should be sent to Alumni Circulation Manager, THE GREYHOUND, Loyola College, 4501 N. Charles Street, Baltimore-10, Maryland.

The second change is announced by Chairman of Membership Committee, Jerome J. Egau, '32. Chairman Egan announces that he is making an appeal for a limited number of "Sustaining Members" to be known as the "Committee of 100," subscribing annually $25.00. This fund is to provide the annual budget of the Alumni Office for the regular conduct of association business and the meeting of regular expenses of operation. Members interested in becoming members of the "Committee of 100" are asked to contact the Chairman of the Membership Committee.

Regular membership dues in the Association remain at the figure set by the recent constitutional amendment, $4.00. A bill for this amount will be sent to all members with the exception of the last three classes. Members of the classes of '45, '46 and '47, under the provisions of the constitution, are billed at the rate of $1.00 per year.

Help the Alumni Association to carry on its activities by becoming an active member! Please pay 1948 dues promptly!

Jules O. Knight, '36 Recording Secretary

At the Executive Committee Meeting of December 12, President O'Donnell announced the appointment of the Recording Secretary of the Association. Donald McClure who served in the capacity last year has found it impossible to continue for the coming term. Complimenting the retiring Secretary for his outstanding service in the office, President O'Donnell accepted the resignation and introduced as the new Secretary, Jules O. Knight, '36, who was immediately installed and entered at once upon the duties of his office.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Molloy are the proud parents of a son, Michael Thomas, born at St. Agnes Hospital on November 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. John Slattery of Anderson, Ind., are proud to announce the arrival of a son James Edward, born December 2.

ROOFING—SHEET METAL
HOME INSULATION

EDW. G. FICK & CO.

2008-10 Harford Ave.
UNiversity 6620

JIM CORKRAN'S

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS

5406 York Road

TU. 6660

Rector States Loyola's Aims

The following are excerpts from the Inauguration address of the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., who was installed as twentieth President of Loyola College on December 3.

On certain occasions, one deems it wiser to surrender one's mind and one's will to the judgments and desires of others. In that spirit, some few months ago, I accepted the Presidency of Loyola College. Today again, I have quietly submitted to the ordeal of being publicly inaugurated. . . .

Though I must state frankly that I foresee little pleasure in the prospect of the responsibilities that I have assumed, and even less pleasure in the acclaim of today, just as frankly and sincerely I must express my gratitude to those who deemed me capable of directing Loyola College and to those who have planned and prepared this, the glory and the pomp. . . .

College Is Now Thriving

Never before have there been so many buildings and such splendid equipment; never before has the Faculty been so numerous and the students so multiplied; never before has there existed such a close and enthusiastic bond between the College and the Alumni, the benefactors and the friends; never before has Loyola College been so well prepared to render such signal services to the City of Baltimore, to the State of Maryland, and to the Archdiocese of Baltimore.

For all of this I can claim no credit. All of this is a gift to me. But I can give credit here and now to my immediate predecessor, Reverend Doctor Edward B. Bunn, S. J., and his co-educators, and to his predecessors, the long line of Presidents and Professors of Loyola College of the past.

Functions Of Loyola Outlined

In my concept of the role and function of Loyola College, in the past as in the future, there are three basic facts.

The first fact is that Loyola College is a community College, founded for the purpose of fitting the educational needs of a localized community.

The second of these facts is that Loyola College is a College of the Arts and Sciences alone.

The third fact is that Loyola College is a totally Catholic College. . . .

When, therefore, I state that Loyola College is intended primarily to provide for the education of the sons of Baltimore and Maryland, I state that Loyola College of the modern Society of Jesus fulfills the Ignatian concept of a College of four hundred years ago.

Let other Colleges expand into tremendous Universities. . . . It is my belief that Loyola College shall most perfectly attain the purposes for which it was founded by remaining a Liberal Arts College educating the young men of Baltimore and of Maryland. . . .

Non-Catholics Are Welcome

To the students of other religious beliefs, I say that they are wholly welcome here at Catholic Loyola.

Whether our students be Catholic or non-Catholic, we shall strive to make them better men and better husbands and fathers of families, and better citizens of the Free State of Maryland and of the United States. But we cannot attain our end unless we can make them aware that the human being does not stand alone, unless we can inspire them to reach up longingly for the noblest ideals of being, unless we can unfold before the eyes of their souls the unseen world of the spiritual and the supernatural, unless we can unveil the revelations of Divinity—unless we can show them the glint of the blinding splendor of God.

WARNER AND COMPANY

18-20 EAST BALTIMORE STREET

HATS FURNISHINGS SPORTSWEAR CLOTHING

News In Brief

The Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Dean of Studies, returned to Loyola College on Friday, December 12, after having spent a week at Woodstock College, where he made his annual retreat.

William Davis, a member of the May Senior Class, became engaged to Miss Lillian E. Ehmann on November 26. The marriage is to take place sometime after graduation in June 1948.

Miss Mary Madaleine O'Neill will be married to Capt. Buckner M. Creel, U.S. Army, on December 27 in St. Margaret's Chapel, Bel Air. Miss O'Neill is the sister of James F. O'Neill, a member of the May Senior Class.

Francis J. Goldsmith, a member of the May Senior Class, is engaged to be married to Miss Bettye L. Sappington of Catonsville, Maryland. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

The dance held early this month by The Evergreen Club at the Summit was very successful financially, according to club president, Morton Gilden. "We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many Loyola students who turned out for the dance," Gilden said last week. Next week the Club plans to distribute Christmas baskets to needy families in the Baltimore area.

The student body and Faculty offer their condolences to Frank Whittle on the death of his grandmother. She was the mother of Dr. Charles B. Whittle, '05.

Pop Bands:
Some Notes On New Bands

Here's some more dope on the new Larry Clinton and Woody Herman bands.

Clinton's band is definitely modern, using a lot of the close harmony figures which are popular today. However, it never gets frantic, which should please those people who can never quite get Kenton, yet can't stomach Lombardo, Kaye, etc.

Interesting wood-wind passages once again serve to identify the Clinton band, but there is a new sound composed of vibraphone, by the leader, guitar and piano working in the close harmony figures.

Vocals are handled by Helen Lee, a luscious little redhead, Lloyd Strang, and Dick Styles, scat-singer and pianist. Altogether, it is a thoroughly palatable commercial dance band.

Herman's new herd is an attempt to pick up where the old one left off minus the self-impressed sidemen who gave him a hard time. In fact, only four old members of the original band have been rehired.

The influence on his music will definitely be be-bop; however, Woody wants to have as versatile an outfit as possible. "All of the boys will solo excepting the lead men," says he. "But most of the excitement will come from Stan Setz, tenor sax, and Eenil Royal, high-note trumpet specialist." Jeri Ney, cute pianist-vocalist, and Woody himself do the words to the music capably.

LIFE'S WISHER...

4	6	1	8	7	5	3	2	1	3	7	6
D	D	D	A	Y	Y	S	Y	R	A	O	E
2	4	5	5	8	1	2	4	6	8	7	3
O	R	O	U	L	O	U	I	A	L	U	Y
3	1	4	5	2	4	5	6	7	6	2	1
Y	P	N	R	R	K	E	T	R	H	E	D
3	4	6	8	7	5	4	3	2	1	3	6
O	L	A	I	E	A	E	U	A	E	R	W
7	8	2	5	7	1	7	5	4	3	4	1
A	S	F	S	R	A	S	A	S	E	S	D
5	6	7	8	6	3	2	4	5	6	7	8
D	A	D	L	I	U	L	B	C	T	R	O
6	3	4	5	6	7	8	4	3	2	5	6
S	G	E	A	Y	O	S	E	L	O	S	O
7	8	3	2	4	6	5	7	1	1	1	1
O	T	Y	P	R	U	E	P	S	O	O	N

Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figure give you.

Alumni Hear Farley Speak

James A. Farley, former Postmaster General of the United States, will be the principal speaker at the Annual Alumni Banquet scheduled for the evening of February 10 in the Main Ball Room of the Emerson Hotel, according to an announcement made this week by Dr. Edward A. Doehler, Chairman of the College Interest Committee.

Clarence J. Rodgers was named Chairman of the Banquet at a meeting of the executive Board on December 12. In keeping with the tradition established last year, the banquet will be dedicated in a special way to a particular group within its ranks. This year the lawyers are being honored.

We See By The Papers

For Sale: Matching Diamond engagement ring and double wedding band set. R. D. Will, 318 Venable Hall. The University of Virginia "College Topics."

The best laid plans of mice and men. . . .

Another big need is a concrete walk down the side of the building leading to the basement door. The Guilford College "Guilfordian."

None of those old-fashioned fire escapes for us.

Jean and Teresa Moran not only have the same last name but both play the clarinet—a fact which detracts little from confusion. The Mt. St. Scholastica "Mount Mirror." They're both girls, too.

How would you like to have your best girl or wife chosen as Queen of the Campus? The Seton Hall "Setonian."

Thanks, but neither of them would have much chance.

Platters of sandwiches, cups of tea and plates of cookies were served to the starving Guilfordians, and needless to say, they disappeared rapidly from the scene. The Guilfordian College "Guilfordian." Who did?

Club News:

Bridge Club Drops Match; Sodalists Plan Spiritual Bouquet; Debaters Hold Classes

Bridge Club:

The Loyola Bridge team dropped a close decision to the girls from Notre Dame of Maryland on November 30th. A return match is being planned and the Loyola team seems unduly confident that they will have their revenge. On December 14, the Maryland College for Women provided the opposition.

Since the club has been meeting girls schools, membership has swelled to over fifty students.

Classes for beginners are being sponsored by the club. Instructors are Terrence Burke, Bob Custer, Bill Schanberger and Jim Bowen.

Mendel Club:

On December 9, William Pillsbury addressed the Mendel Club on the subject Muscle Contraction. The talk took place in room 306 in the Science Building and was followed by a general discussion on the topic.

Phillip Aidt chose Allergenic Pollens as the topic for his December 16 talk.

Senior Sodality:

In conjunction with the Sodality

by Thomas Comber

Union of Baltimore, the Loyola Sodality entertained the children at a Christmas party given recently at St. Elizabeth Orphanage.

Plans are also being formulated for the Spiritual Bouquet which will be offered by Loyola students in conjunction with all the Catholic Colleges of America. The aim of the Bouquet is the conversion of Russia.

Accounting Club:

The McCormick Co. film entitled Business Management Policy was shown before the Accounting Club on December 5. This picture was the first in a series of films which have been planned.

Debating Society:

The first regular Saturday classes for the instruction of debaters was held on December 6. Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., the club moderator, presided. The classes began at 8:30 a.m. and were not over until 8:00 in the evening. The program was arranged in order to train speakers for the heavy schedule of debates which will face the club next semester.

At a recent meeting, a committee headed by Francis X. Gallagher was organized to draw up a constitution.

Chemistry Club:

At the last meeting of the Chemistry Club, Mr. Theodore Heying was chosen president of the club. Mr. Heying announced that the club will sponsor a series of films open to all students.

VIDALI'S BAKERY
FOR
QUALITY FOODS

4627 York Road
1221 W. North Ave.

ROGERS GROCERY
509 York Road
Towson, Md.
Phone—Towson 333
We Deliver

TUXedo 9833
Russell Wallace, Prop.
Homeland
Auto Paint Shop
Complete Body and
Fender Service
400 Benninghaus Rd.
Baltimore-12, Maryland

FRIDEN Automatic Calculators
W. P. WITTELSBERGER
HO. 2311
21 West 25th Street
HO. 2788
Baltimore, Maryland

New Apartments And Jobs: Aims Of Married Men

Probably the only club at Loyola in which women can legally hold office is the Married Men's Club, formed this term for both social and practical purposes. According to President Jim Bailey, the club seeks not only to bring the married students into closer social contact but also to find apartments, baby-sitters and jobs for members.

Both students and lay faculty members are eligible to join the club. At last count, 26 of the 96 married students at Evergreen are members of the young organization.

Buffet Supper Is Success

First social event of the club was a buffet supper held last November. "As it was, the affair was a success," said Ernest Beelat, vice-president of the club. "But we'd like to get all the non-bachelors at Loyola to join."

Committees in charge of apartment hunting, baby-sitters and part-time jobs have been formed, and several openings for the latter have already been found, both part-time for students and full-time for wives. Mrs. Henry R. Hergenroeder, wife of the instructor in marketing, is in charge of the committee on baby-sitting.

Father Of Four Children

"One of the staunchest members of the club," remarked Beelat, "is Bill West. He has been a member of the club since its formation, and is the father of four children."

A second social was held December 16 in the cafeteria. Members and their wives attended a banquet and then saw the Alderson-Broadus basketball game.

Meet the Loyola Crowd at McGee's
GOVANS GRILL
York Road & Homeland Ave.
Delicious Food —
Refreshing Drinks

Austin X. Dopman, President
AVE MARIA STUDIOS, Inc.
CHURCH GOODS
Religious Articles
Vestments - Candles - Statuary
Votive Equipment - Brassware
CHARLES at CENTER
VERnon 4393

C. E. Kimmel & Co.
27th and Remington
Distributors
U. S. TIRES
HO. 3600

HOLLY'S
for
COCKTAILS
3333 Greenmount Ave.

Vermont Federal
Savings & Loan Association
Savings Insured to $5,000.00
Loans made on Direct Reduction Basis
2910 Edmondson Ave. La. 2527-3808

Seeing is believing
but
How can you believe it
if
You don't see it?
THIS IS AN INVITATION TO LOOK AT STYLEPLUS CLOTHES
17-19 HOP INS
Where they are sold at DIRECT Factory Prices

Give A Gift
With a School or Lodge Seal
THE
JOHN TROCKENBROT CO.
Designers of
School, College, Club, Lodge
Rings and Pins
BANQUET FAVORS, TROPHIES
310 North Paca Street
VERnon 1052
Gifts with Loyola College Seals
See Our Showcase In The Bookstore

Mr. Sh-h-h

(With apologies to Ralph Edwards)
Do you know everyone on the campus? If you do, then you know the subject of THE GREYHOUND Mr. Sh-h-h contest.

The poem below contains clues which will give you the identity of Mr. Sh-h-h. You see him every day. He's a member of either the student body or the faculty. He may be you, for Mr. Sh-h-h does not know that we are using his name.

Here is the poem. Read it carefully. There are many definite clues which indicate his name. Who is Mr. Sh-h-h:—

Now I am close to the college
Once I was 2 blocks away
I often walk the campus
The best schools end in A.

Compare 10 and 40
And you'll know where to go
Almonds and baptisms proclaim my fame
Figure this out and you'll know my name.

Eight members of the student body and two members of the Faculty will be chosen at random and contacted by mail during the next week. If one of those contacted correctly identifies Mr. Sh-h-h, he will be awarded a suitable prize. If more than one wins, the contestants will be summoned and the one who best explains the various clues will be declared the winner.

If no one correctly identifies our subject, additional clues explaining the poem will be given in the next issue of THE GREYHOUND.

This is a legitimate contest. It's your chance to earn a fine prize. Read the poem carefully. You may be the first to be contacted.

Who is Loyola's Mr. Sh-h-h?

Shakespeare Comments . . .

The New Look

"Turning the accomplishment of many years into an hour-glass."

Henry V—Prologue

"I never saw a better fashioned gown."

Taming of the Shrew—Act IV, 3

"To conjure tears up in a poor maid's eye."

Midsummer Night's Dream—III, 2

"How weary, stale, flat, and unprofitable."

Hamlet—I, 2

"What you will have it named, that it is."

Taming of the Shrew—IV, 5

"Well, sir, in brief, the gown is not for me."

Taming of the Shrew—IV, 3

"Will they yet look after thee?"

Merry Wives of Windsor—II, 2

Editorials

When Loyola's delegates to the NSA Regional meeting took issue with certain of the By-Laws of that organization earlier this month in Washington, a serious division took place in the ranks of the delegates present.

Lest Loyola's position on this matter be misunderstood, we will say at the outset that we are behind NSA, its aims and purposes, to the limit. It is only with some of the methods laid down to secure those aims that we take issue. It cannot but be apparent, from even a cursory reading of the NSA Constitution, that there are some stipulations in the By-Laws which this school cannot ratify. They constitute unnecessary and unwarranted infringements upon the prerogatives of college administrations.

Unfortunately, it is not yet known whether or not ratification of the Constitution postulates ratification of the By-Laws. Whether or not it does, however, Loyola will not and cannot carry out the recommendations carried in some of the By-Laws.

By-Law III has carried the brunt of the attack. Labeled the "Bill of Rights," it begins as follows: "In order to preserve and extend these conditions indispensable to the full achievement of educational objectives, and with full cognizance of the responsibilities and obligations which ensue from any assertion of fundamental rights, the NSA holds the following rights essential to the full development of the student as an individual and to the fulfillment of his responsibilities as a citizen: . . ." Twelve resolutions follow.

Resolution one states baldly "The right of every student to a college education." Loyola's delegates to the regional meeting advocated the insertion of the word "qualified" between "every" and "student." A number of the delegates present who had attended the Madison convention were of the opinion that "qualified" had been in the resolution when it was voted on at the Constitutional convention.

Article seven insists on the "right to invite and hear speakers of their choice on subjects of their choice." The absurdity of a student body trying to tell the faculty of their college that they insist on having the local communist bigwig as a speaker is apparent. The same holds

The Reasons Behind Loyola's Dispute With By-Laws of the NSA Constitution

When Loyola's Student Council voted to join the National Student Association (NSA) last month, no copy of the Constitution of that organization had been received by this college.

When, two weeks after our "ratification" a copy was forwarded, examination by several interested students revealed that Loyola apparently could not ratify the document because of several provisions which seem to interfere unwarrantedly with school policy.

We say "seem to interfere," because results of a discussion of the matter at a regional meeting of NSA (attended by Loyolans John Evelyus and Winston Kourey) reveal that the opinion of member colleges is divided as to whether or not ratification of the Constitution postulates approval of the By-Laws and their recommended application.

At any rate, Loyola holds that at least some of these By-Laws are objectionable. This will be our delegation's position at the Regional Meeting of NSA tomorrow at the University of Baltimore. The January Greyhound will carry an account of the Region's decision. The body of this article sets down those sections of the Constitution considered objectionable by Loyola's representatives.

for Article nine, which insists upon "The right to establish and issue regular publications free of any censorship or other pressure aimed at controlling editorial policy . . ." Surely, when a college's name is used on the flag of a student publication, the college should have final veto power on copy. Too, independently of their right, they now possess that power in most colleges, and it is unlikely that they will relinquish it merely by the agreement of the student body.

One more quote should be enough to indicate the over bearing character of many of the resolutions: ". . . no disciplinary action may properly be taken against students, faculty members, or their organizations or publications for activities off-campus not purporting to represent or involve the institution, or for expressing opinions on-campus concerning matters off-campus."

The vote of the student body of a college is to bring this rule, obviously under the control of the administration, into effect!

These are by no means all of the objectionable clauses or all of the Bill of Rights. Some of the remaining unobjectionable ones are harmless, some worthwhile.

NSA did a good job at Madison; they should not object to what is intended to be constructive criticism because the job was not perfect. We believe that this fine organization should and will thrive; but we believe with equal fervor that it cannot if it replaces discretion with futile and useless arrogance.

The Critilog by George Herman

A few days ago a long-time acquaintance of mine threw a fit in a motion picture emporium, threw potted delphiniums at the screen, and was hauled away to a rest home in a neat lumber jacket with laced-up sleeves. As a reporter, it was my solemn duty, as the editor reminded me in gentle tones, to interview him and get the story.

"Why did you snap your top, Pomeroy?" I delicately poised the question.

"It was Van Johnson," came the timid reply. "Doing a song-and-dance. There are thousands of Van Johnsons in Hollywood today."

"What do you mean?" I asked, throwing away my notebook and writing on the back of an envelope in the fashion of movie reporters.

"When I won a contest for being the top yodeler in Orange County, I was awarded a movie screen test—naturally."

"Naturally," I replied turning up my hat brim in the fashion of movie reporters.

"They asked me what I did. I told them I yodeled. They said 'fine' and I was to report to studio J. At studio J, they gave me ballet slippers and cast me as a ballet dancer."

"Then," he continued, "I was sent from studio to studio. At studio X, I was a cowboy—who doesn't yodel; in studio G, a gangster; in studio F, a trial lawyer. I was panned by every critic in the state. People hated me. But I told them I yodeled! Yodeled!"

He gave a outcry like a coyote and I quietly left the room, closing the door behind me in the fashion of movie reporters.

LETTERS

The Old Refrain

To the Editor of THE GREYHOUND:

Dear Sir:

In the past few months there have been quite a number of men who have tried to develop a little school spirit on the campus. Certain facts are evident; that the school is too small, that most of the men are too old for that kid stuff, that Loyola is a day school, that a few of the men seem to be running the school, etc. In my estimation the enumerated facts are silly.

School spirit is not to be carried on by a few men, but by the whole student body. Every man should support every action on the campus. Last year when the basketball team was in the midst of its very successful season, the spirit, in comparison to other schools in this area, was miserable. During the final contest in the Mason-Dixon Conference last season, Loyola was put to shame by the small but peppy student body of Mt. St. Mary's. It is true that Loyola won the game, but it is not as a result of the cheering of the men on the side-lines, it was due to the fact that Loyola had the better team.

Once again the curtain rises on another basketball season, and it looks as though the spirit is the same. Loyola has a ball team that can and will win if it receives the proper support. I am ASKING you men to support your team. Talk it up and make this an unforgettable year.

John J. McWilliams

Books

by John Scrimger

Theiese Desqueyieux

—Francois Mauriac

Eighteen years ago Francois Mauriac of the Academic Francaise published the novel Theiese Desqueyieux, which is now available in English translation.

Mauriac begins his novel with the quotation from Baudelaire's wierd prose poem, Mademoiselle Lancelot: "Lord have pity, have pity on all the insane." The story opens at Theiese's acquittal from a trial. She had been guilty of an attempted murder of her husband. Then the incidents are related which led her to the act. Bernard, her husband, is a stubborn, selfish vulgar man whom Theiese married for his wealth. But she was unable to bear his presence and that of his family, and in order to gain her freedom, she begins to administer her husband daily doses of poison.

Theiese is unlikable; indeed, Mauriac addresses her in his forward as "a creature more odious than any character in my other books." And yet we feel a sympathy for her, a sympathy Mauriac undoubtedly felt, for in the preface of the following portrait, The End of the Night (also included in the translated edition), he admits that he may write yet another sequel, telling of her redemption. The End of the Night is not, as Mauriac said, to be considered a sequel, but "a portrait of a woman in her decline whom (he has) already painted in the days of her criminal youth."

The Greyhound

Student publication of Loyola College, Evergreen, Cold Spring Lane and Charles St., Baltimore-10, Md. Published biweekly except during holidays and periods of examinations. Phone Ch. 9616 or Ch. 1020.

Vol. XXI, No. 8 Dec. 19, 1947

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Member

National Catholic Press Assn.

Editor-in-Chief Terrence E. Burke
Managing Editor John H. Plunkett

EDITORIAL STAFF

Sports Editor Spencer L. Davidson
Asst. Sports Editor Don Fay
News Editor Francis X. Gallagher
Feature Editor William Heffner
Copy Editor James E. Bowen
Photography Editor Jack Phillips
Staff Cartoonist James Bradley
Office Manager Robert Custer
Exchange Editor John Krager

News Staff Edward Clarke, Thomas Comber, William Dempsey, James Dietz, Robert Gallagher, Charles Kimmel, C. Rodgers Kline, Ferd Lemkuhler, Andrew Montgomery, James P. O'Connor, James F. O'Neill, Donald Owens, Thomas Padden, Joseph Parlett, Joseph Rehak, John Lentz.

Copy Staff J. Joseph Coyne, Lawrence Davis.

Feature Staff Richard Coleman, Daniel Mackey, John Schanberger, George Herman, John Scrimger, Louis Mathai, Daniel Shehan, Theodore Evans.

Sports Staff Lawrence Atkinson, Vincent Bagli, Eugene Conroy, Eugene Corrigan, Edward Hart, John Ewellus, Thomas Gislief, Gerard McCormick, James Norris, Raymond Parr, Vincent Proffil.

Photography George Alderman, Joseph Kelley, James Lightner, Oliver Krastell.

BUSINESS DEPT.

Business Manager Calvert Kenning
Advertising Manager Jerry Jackson
Circulation Manager Stanley Stone
Alumni Circ. Manager Austin Byrd
Business Staff Frank Collins, Vincent Gallagher, William Johnson.

Circulation Staff Joseph Boulay, Lawrence Flynn, Paul Rivas, Edward Sellmayer, Thomas Sweeney, Walter Welzant.

Subscription—Two Dollars a Year

Entered as second-class matter August 13, 1943, at the Post Office at Baltimore, Maryland, under the Acts of March 3, 1879.

Entertainment Calendar

MOVIES

Captain from Castile comes to the NEW with Tyrone Power and Jean Peters; one of the better action pictures.

Road to Rio comes to the KEITHS with Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Dorothy Lamour. The old trio is back together again in the same old script with a load of new laughs.

Tycoon comes to the TOWN with John Wayne, Lorraine Day, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Judith Anderson, an all star cast for a second rate picture.

STAGE

Beginning Dec. 22, Carousel comes to FORD'S for a two week stand. This is one of the best-loved stories of our times. Carousel combines Richard Rodgers' music with Oscar Hammerstein's lyrics. This is a sure fire hit.

Coming to FORD'S is the adaptation of the novel, Mister Roberts by Tom Heggen and Joshua Logan. The play was assisted in its creation by Max Schulman, noted humorist and author of Barefoot Boy with Cheek.

CONCERTS

On Friday Margaret Truman will present a concert at the LYRIC. The noted pianist, Guiomar Norais, will present a concert at the Peabody Conservatory of Music on the same afternoon. In January the concert stage will present Schnabel, the Don Cossack chorus, Jose Iturbi, and the LaScala Opera Company in Madame Butterfly.

ART

The Walters Art Gallery will present the best exhibit in town to date with their "Age of Enlightenment" series this week.

Varsity Invades Seton Hall And Scranton

Running With The Hounds

by Spence Davidson

There appears to be a particular species of sports fan, both on and off the Loyola campus, who has come to regard Jim Lacy as some sort of basketball automaton who racks up points right and left without much caring how he does it. The brethren are currently engaged in loud moaning and wailing to the effect that the Lacy of 1947 is not the Lacy of 1946. The left wing, in fact, has already discarded him as a has-been. If pressed far enough the moaners explain their contentions by stating that he doesn't seem to have the polish he did last year, and worst of all, he isn't racking up points the way he did last season. We'd hate to be the ones to point out to the clan that they're going off half-cocked, but we would like to bring up a few bits of information which will go a long way towards clearing up some of the unhealthy pessimism.

Take, for instance, the all-important matter of points scored. In the first five games this year, which includes the Catholic U. win last Saturday night, Big Jim has racked up a total of 86 markers for a handy 17.2 average. But because he made only five points in the Towson Teachers game, everyone is moaning.

Now, consider for a moment or two these figures culled from last season's basketball write-ups. For the first five games last year—Fort Belvoir, Rhode Island, La Salle, Seton Hall and Gallaudet—Jim had tallied only 67 points, nineteen less than his total for the same number of games this year.

And as for a five point, single game total being something horrible over which to gnash teeth, who remembers the Gallaudet game last year in which he made only four? In other words, don't listen to the moaners who gather in the caf or in Sobol's to shed tears. No matter what they say, Jim is still ahead of his last season's record.

As for the argument that he doesn't look like himself, how would you expect him to look when practically every team Loyola meets is out to cream Lacy? Big Jim has to play every game—especially if it's on someone else's court—under a terrific strain. The fans ride him from the time the whistle blows to begin the game until the contest is over.

In the first five games of this year Lacy has been fouled no less than 38 times. Most of these were committed as he was heading in towards the basket for a lay-up but before he shot, so that he was awarded only one shot. His potential point total has suffered as a result.

Jim is playing this year under the added handicap of a reputation. Instead of expecting wonders night in and night out, how about the home fans sticking with him? Even if he doesn't equal his 667 point total of last season, he's still the best we've ever seen play and we'd pay to see him perform, whether it was for Loyola, Hopkins, or the Hickville Aggies. He's also big enough not to have his head turned by this or any other of the numerous compliments he gets.

Cagers Rout Baltimore U., 50-23; Lacy Scores 24 Points

The Greyhounds defeated the University of Baltimore Bees, 50-23, in a non-conference contest at Evergreen on December 6. Big Jim Lacy scored 20 points to pace the Hounds while Mike Zedalis was next with nine.

The Bees jumped to a 1-0 lead but Zedalis tied it with a free toss. Throughout the rest of the first quarter, the two teams traded field goals. The score was 8-7 in favor of Loyola at the close of the very tight period.

Lacy Shines

In the second quarter Loyola's attack came to life and the Hounds were able to pull away from the Bees. Lacy was unstoppable with his driving, left-handed shots. Andy O'Donnell and Zedalis were helping very greatly with their speedy cuts and passing. The half-time score was 26-12.

Tom Gisriel scored four points in the third period and was always in the thick of the fighting for rebounds. There was not much excitement as Loyola steadily increased its lead to 37-19.

Zedalis Impressive

A lively fourth quarter developed as Coach Lefty Reitz began sending in substitutes who completed the rout by streaming 13 points through the basket while holding the Bees to four. Jim Bailey made two beautiful baskets and Buf Zephir swished a difficult under-hand shot.

Lacy was dazzling, as expected, but Zedalis, a freshman, impressed everyone with his smooth shooting and aggressiveness, especially on rebounds. O'Donnell played his usual tight defensive game in holding Don Buttermore, the Baltimore star, to four points.

The Pirates of Seton Hall will be out for revenge against Loyola's Greyhounds tonight in a non-conference basketball tilt on the Pirates' home court at South Orange, N. J. The full squad will depart this afternoon by bus, according to athletic director Lefty Reitz.

If last season's 54-53 upset over Seton Hall College at Evergreen is any indication of rivalry, tonight's encounter should be a thriller. The two schools have met on the hardwoods seven times since their initial clash back in 1941. Only in their last contest with the Hounds—one of the highlights of the 1946-47 season—did the Pirates find themselves behind at the final buzzer.

Play Scranton Tomorrow

The game will mark the first part of a two day jaunt into enemy territory, covering over 500 miles. Tomorrow night Loyola plays Scranton University in Pennsylvania.

This season, as last, Seton Hall is touted as a point production powerhouse among Eastern teams, and tonight's battle should find the Pirates in excellent condition. Their regular starting five will be similar to that of a year ago, with the lone exception of Bob Wanzer who, in all probability, will not play due to eligibility rules.

The holdover list includes Saul, Pagiaroli, Mackanowski, McNamara and Hammock. In addition, there are several transfer students and others, graduated from last season's Freshman squad; a squad which, incidentally, was beaten only once.

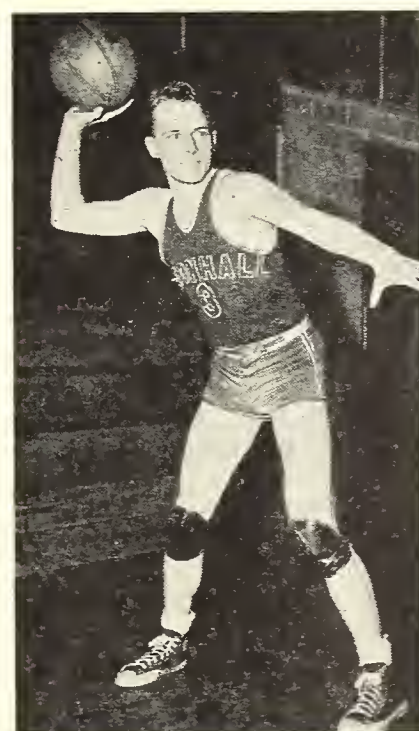

Have New Coach

Jack Reitemeier, Pirate mentor, is also new this year. He replaced Bob Davis, under whose instruction last season's talented quint amassed a record of 26 wins and 3 losses.

The Hounds, whose trip to South Orange last December resulted in a 60-38 defeat, are better prepared and more experienced this time. That first game with Seton Hall came in the middle of a grueling three day Eastern tour.

Hounds Rested

Not having played since Tuesday night, the Green and Grey should be well rested and able to match their fast breaking opponents, whose dependence is on a combination of speed with marksmanship.

HE'S SET THIS TIME—When Loyola downed Seton Hall last year, 54-53, the Pirates' coach said that the presence of Pep Saul (above) who was sidelined at the time would have made a big difference. Saul, Seton's best marksman, is ready for Loyola in the game tonight at South Orange, N. J.

Staff Photo—Lightner

TWO MORE FOR ZEDALIS—Mike Zedalis, Loyola's own speed merchant, takes off into the air at Ritchie Coliseum to lay up a pair of points for the Hounds. Bill Brown, who led the scoring for the evening, attempts to stop him. Mike was high scorer for the Hounds with 18.

Cagers Defeat Maryland In 63-52 Court Battle

by Vince Bagli

The Loyola Greyhounds, held at bay through a spine tingling first half, struck with sudden fury after the intermission period to outrace a rangy Maryland five and gain a 63-52 verdict last Friday at College Park.

Some 4,000 riotous rooters saw two well-drilled quintets battle nip and tuck through the first twenty minutes and leave the floor deadlocked at 27-27 all.

After Jim Lacy dropped in two fouls seconds after the opening tap, the lead changed hands repeatedly as Bill Johnson, Mike Zedalis, Andy O'Donnell and Paul Feeley showed uncanny accuracy around the foul circle and the effectiveness of Bill Brown, Johnny Edwards and Bill Wanish rang up points for the Terps.

Terps Pull Ahead

The Maryland offensive got rolling at the fifteen minute mark, the scoreboard showing a 21-16 Terrapin advantage. This lead was short-lived however as the Greyhound siege guns took charge and closed the gap at 25-all. Bob Lamb arched a Western style one-hander from beyond the circle and Maryland led by a pair. Zedalis and Feeley converted charity tosses to tie it up and set the stage for the Hounds' great second half offensive.

Lacy, Zedalis, O'Donnell, and Johnson pumped in field goals and it looked like a rout as the College Parkers failed to tally from the floor for five minutes. At this point however, the home club began to hit and the Hounds' lead dwindled to 41-37 as Johnny Edwards punched in a pair of twisting two hand jump shots from the side of the circle and Wanish and Brown connected inside.

Zedalis Gets 18

Lacy and Zedalis upped it to 46-41 and this was as close as the tiring Terrapins got. Once again Loyola got hot and pounded the hoop for fourteen points, the Terps retaliating with eight. Three more tallies zipped through the team's record of never having been beaten by a Maryland team stood unblemished.

Although Brown's 19 topped the point makers, Zedalis hooked 18 markers in, while Jim Lacy's potent southpaw whip accounted for two less. Bill Johnson and Andy O'Donnell, besides setting up many scoring plays, garnered 19 markers between them and the rebound work of Paul Feeley sparkled.

Alderson-Broadus

Alderson-Broadus College, which won the West Virginia Intercollegiate Tournament last year after posting a 26-8 record, bowed to the Greyhounds in a fast-moving and quick-scoring contest last Tuesday night at Evergreen. The score was 68-54.

Jim Lacy upped his season scoring total to 104 by zipping through 18 points to take scoring honors. Tom Gisriel tossed in 14, speedy Mike Zedalis made 12, and reliable Andy O'Donnell was responsible for 10.

Darl Wilmoth, the visitors' ace whose 591 points made him third highest scorer in the nation last year, was effectively bottled up by Bill Johnson. Wilmoth, after collecting ten points in the first half, failed to score in the second half.

It was the Hounds' last home appearance before the North Carolina game at the Coliseum on December 31.

On The Hardwood

Hounds, North Carolina Vie In New Year's Eve Test

by Ed Hart

Just a few hours before the whistles blare, announcing the birth of another year, Dave Kaufman will come through with a toot of his own, and the long-awaited basketball contest between Loyola and the University of North Carolina will be under way. Originally scheduled for January 1, the contest has definitely been set for December 31 at the Coliseum. Main game will begin at 8:30 p. m.

One of the features of the game will be a television broadcast over WMAR-TV, the Sunpapers' Television Station. This will be the first of five Loyola tilts which will be televised this season.

Tarheels Tough

Although they have lost the services of their chief offensive threat of last year, John (Hooks) Dillon, the Tarheels will floor a tall, experienced team that will rule definite favorites over Lefty Reitz's club. Dillon, the scoring wizard who paced the team a year ago, was graduated last June, but several holdovers spearheaded by All-American Bob Paxton leave the Southerners' cause in good hands.

For Loyola, the game marks the beginning of a rivalry with another outstanding basketball school, something that has become a habit during the past two seasons. North Carolina, always recognized as a dangerous foe, enjoyed one of its most successful seasons in 1945-46, when it reached the semi-finals of the National Invitational Tournament in New York.

It's Up To Lacy

Again Loyola's cause depends heavily on the performance of Jim Lacy. If Mr. 16 can shake loose early and shove the Hounds in front, a very interesting contest could develop.

Reitz has Lacy, Andy O'Donnell, Tom Gisriel, Wish Galvin, Mike Zedalis and the rest of the club primed for the tenth game of the campaign, and the first at the Coliseum. The Hounds will play Texas Wesleyan (remember 60-59 last year?) on January 29 at the North Monroe Street arena.

Ticket Information

Approximately 4000 persons can be accommodated, with 1100 reserved seats and the remainder general admission. Prices for reserved seats are three dollars each, and general admission seats are $1.50 apiece.

Season book holders were given preference for the reserved seat sale which began December 8. General admission seats are obtainable at the athletic office, or at Bachrach-Rasin, Triangle Sporting Goods or Schreiber and Jones. The ticket office in the gymnasium is open every afternoon during the holidays except on Saturdays and Christmas.

Coming Up

Three of the most important games of the season will face Loyola's varsity basketball club in early 1948. Albright College, American University and Seton Hall are scheduled to meet the Greyhounds within one week.

Albright, which won a nip-and-tuck 66-64 decision last year, will visit Evergreen on January 3. American University, rated the team to watch in the Mason-Dixon Conference title chase, will play host to the Reitzmen on the fifth in Washington, D. C. Seton Hall will match baskets with Loyola for the second time when the Pirates move in on January 9.

Swimmers Prep For First Match With Dickinson

The current swimming squad is taking shape under the guidance of coach Franny Mueller, whose eye is on the first contest with Dickinson on January 10.

The group of candidates who survived time trials held during the week of December 1 will enter into the full season schedule begun with this meet. Some of these chosen few are Bill Klaner and Clint Bamberger, who will take up the breast-stroke duties, and Joe Hauf and Tom Maskell in the backstroke. The roster continues with Jack Bondell and Bert Dunn covering the long distances, and Jim Oaster, Manley Gately and Tom Carney sprinting in freestyle.

Reserve Group Formed

Jaquie Gunning is expected to assist John Mohler in the diving, but his talents extend to swift dashing as well. He and Tom Carney are rated the best of the new crop up to this time. The lineup is too incomplete to include all its members, however.

Coach Mueller stressed the importance of the reserve squad for which he has provided. Those, not up to league competition at this time, and all others interested in speed swimming are provided for under this plan. It will enable them to work out at any time convenient, and still be eligible for intramural competition. These men will be encouraged to improve their performances towards the eventual end of replacing some member of the team. This scheme is intended to develop new talent, keep the team supplied with fresh material, and force the first stringers to keep on their webbed toes.

Time Trials Held

Weekly time trials will keep the team's improvement recorded, and afford the men working out in a reserve status their chance to move up as often as possible.

Sports Calendar

Basketball

Dec. 19—Seton Hall (A)
20—Scranton (A)
31—N. Carolina (Coliseum)
Jan. 3—Albright (H)

5—American U. (A) C
9—Seton Hall (H)
14—Catholic U. (A) C

Swimming

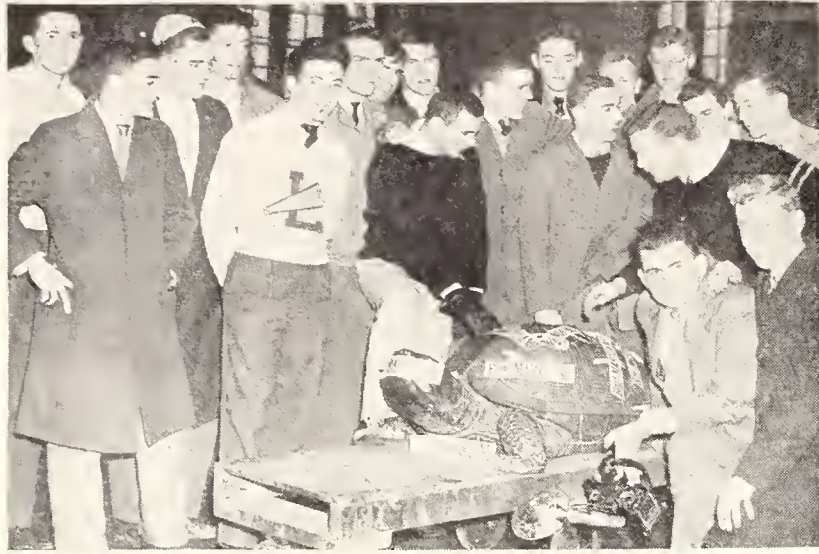

Jan. 10—Dickinson

GRAUEL'S MARKET

Everything In Fine Foods
5113 & 4032 Roland Ave.
6242 Bellona Ave.
We Deliver

MARYLAND OFFICE
SUPPLY CO.

111 W. Baltimore Street
SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Staff Photo—Lightner

PORTRAIT OF A TURTLE AND ADMIRERS—"Testudo," the famous traveling turtle (pardon us, terrapin) of College Park poses for a portrait with a group of friends. The friends, incidentally were responsible for "Testudo's" abrupt departure from his pedestal in front of Ritchie Coliseum the night before the game.

"Operation Terrapin!" An Eye-Witness Account

An unidentified task force composed of an undetermined number of unidentified students carried out "Operation Terrapin" last week in conjunction with the Loyola-Maryland basketball game. The object of their raid was "Testudo," the traveling turtle of College Park.

Equipped with the most modern equipment for stealing terrapins and traveling in a fleet of fast, specially-designed cars, the squadron weighed anchor at approximately 2100 on the night before the game and rendezvoused for the journey to College Park. H-hour was scheduled for 2240.

Fifth Column

Plans were abruptly changed when it was discovered that an unsuspected fifth columnist had relayed the news of their coming to the forces protecting the prize. The squadron commander (also unidentified) foxed his opponents by sending in a suicide car which succeeded in drawing the protecting fleet of six fast cars away from the turtle.

A second vehicle slipped in past the anti-turtle stealers net, backed up, secured the terrapin and raced off without being seen. The suicide car was given up as lost until it finally showed up at its home base several hours later. Its crew has already been awarded battle stars for their College Park Theatre ribbons.

Reprisal Raid

A reprisal raid was carried out on Evergreen several hours later, but observers reported that damage was negligible. "Testudo" was not on the campus, but was being held incommunicado in an unidentified location by unidentified guards. These guards had orders to shoot to kill if he attempted to escape.

The prize was finally displayed to Loyola fans at a pre-game rally in the Gymnasium the next morning. During the night he had acquired a "new look" in the form of "Beat Maryland" stickers on his back and a fresh coat of paint in a striking Kelly green shade.

Return Trip?

Next came the problem of returning him to his pedestal in front of Ritchie Coliseum. There were several trends of thought on this particular subject. One faction wanted to ship him C. O. D. to the University of Georgia in connection with the 'Gator Bowl game between Maryland and Georgia.

Another group wanted to trade him to Hopkins for Gilman Hall, but cooler heads won out and it was finally decided that he should return home, but only if sufficient policemen could be found to protect his escort from retaliatory measures.

The Grab Bag

All America Grid Team Selected

by Vince Bagli

Here is The Grab Bag's All-American team for the 1947 season:

L. E. Bill Swiacki, Columbia
L. T. George Connor, Notre Dame
L. G. Steve Suhey, Penn State
C. Dick Scott, Navy
R. G. Joe Steffy, Army
R. T. Bobby Davis, Georgia Tech
R. E. Barney Poole, Mississippi
Q. B. Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame
L. H. Bob Chappuis, Michigan
R. H. Bobby Layne, Texas
F. B. Doak Walker, Southern Methodist

A. H. FETTING CO.

Manufacturing Jewelers

314 North Charles Street

Baltimore, Maryland

Producers of

Loyola College Rings

Note: Notre Dame walloped Southern California, 38-7. This column predicted a 34-7 Irish win. We apologize most humbly for underestimating the potency of this truly remarkable South Bend outfit.

All Loyola's going to the HOLIDAY HOP

AT THE

Beautiful Summit

MON., DEC. 29th

$2.40 Per Couple

Dancing 10 to 2

to

BOB CRAIG & ORCH.

CABARET STYLE

Collegiate
Veterans Committee

See { Dick Hartman Be. 1723
Bob Swency Un. 8396

Heartbreaker

64-62 Win To LaSalle

After an apparent one-point Loyola lead was wiped off the books with less than a minute to go, La Salle College scored a field goal and eked out a 64-62 victory over the Hounds in Philadelphia.

Lefty Reitz's cagers had come from behind in the final half, caught the Explorers and were freezing the ball to protect a slim 63-62 edge which the scoreboard had given them.

However, the game was halted and the official scorer from La Salle ruled the score was 62-62, despite the fact that all other scorekeepers agreed on the Hounds' one point advantage. The chief referee said the home scorer was official, and the contest was tied with a minute to go.

Foult Scores

With only 40 seconds remaining, Larry Foust, 6'10" center, hooked in a pivot shot for the home team to win the game, 64-62. It was the third straight win of the season for La Salle, and Loyola's first loss.

Jim Lacy found the range for 26 points to lead the scoring for both sides. Lacy connected eight times from the floor and ten times from the foul line.

Up and coming Mike Zedalis threw in 13 markers to rank second for the Hounds. The freshman red-head rimmed four field goals and five fouls. Tom Gisriel's six points were third best.

Five Points Behind

Foust, the giant pivot man, hooped in 11 shots and added 3 foul tosses to register 25 points and prove the winners' top marksman. Joe Greenberg collected 13, while Ace McCann was held to four counters.

Loyola was five points in the rear at 32-27 at halftime, but came roaring back to knot the count at 32-all shortly after the second half opened. From this point to Foust's winning shot, the game was nip-and-tuck, with the lead changing hands eight times and the score deadlocked on six occasions.

Reitz, commenting on his team's performance, felt that the time taken out to discuss the scoring mixup cooled off the Greyhounds and may have resulted in the loss.

La Salle visits Evergreen for a return match with Loyola on February 10. Score by halves:

Loyola	27	35—62
La Salle	32	32—64

Flowers - Floral Designs - Plants MOSS, Inc.

"Flowers of Distinction"

5315 York Rd., Tu. 1400; 3113 St. Paul St., Ch. 8888; Edmondson Village, Ed. 5232; 3824 Liberty Heights Ave., Li. 3377; Hotel Sheraton-Belvedere, Mu. 1000.

Maryland Is Next Foe

Phil Goodman and his varsity wrestling team have their eyes set on a profitable season, and aim to surprise Maryland's grapplers when the two squads come to grips on January 24 in the team's next appearance of the young season. The match will be held in the Evergreen gym.

Yesterday, the Hounds opened their campaign against the reputedly strong Washington and Lee clan. The Virginians handed the wrestlers a one-sided 31-5 decision last year.

Mueller Promising

From the results of several intra-squad matches and a practice match with Baltimore Polytechnic, the best of the newcomers is likely to be Jeep Mueller. Although lacking any experience in actual competition, the 235-pounder is handling himself like a veteran of the mat.

Another outstanding novice is Charley Clifton, who is in the 128-pound category. A navy vet, Clifton has shown good ability, though he has been absent from the mat wars for some years.

Beese Wins

Carter Beese, who joined the team late last year and displayed good form in the M-D tournament, handled himself well in the Poly meet. Others who won handily were Chuck Besche, Mus Bower, captain, Alan Harris and Steve Krisian.

Goodman opines that this year's schedule will be tough, but not as difficult as the 1946 card. He feels that with the exception of Washington and Lee, the teams are of the same strength as the Greyhounds.

Cole Preserves Games On Film

This year marks the first time that Loyola athletes will be able to sit back in plush-cushion seats, sip a coke and watch themselves compete in intercollegiate competition. This trick will be accomplished by means of movies taken of the games, under the direction of Neill Cole.

At present the movies are in the experimental stage, but as methods of lighting and photographing the games are improved the pictures will likewise be better.

Movies taken of the Washington College-Loyola soccer game turned out very well, but trouble was encountered when indoor movies of the basketball games were attempted. Thus far, shots have been taken of the Bullet scrimmage, the Towson Teachers game and the Alderson-Broadbudd game.

Plans are being formulated to set up a permanent file of these movies in order that they may be used for training purposes for the coaches as well as to provide entertainment at future Block L Club socials.

FLOORKRAFTERS of Baltimore

Window Shades, Venetian Blinds, Linoleum, Resilient Tiles, Carpets
423 St. Paul St.
Baltimore - 2, Md.
VE. 7871 - 7872 - 7873

"You Feed 'em . . . We Seat 'em"
CHAIR EXCHANGE
121 N. Greene St. SA. 6102
WE RENT TABLES & CHAIRS

JOHN B. JAECKLEIN, Manager
CHAIR EXCHANGE

The Line-Up

Jim Lacy Excels As Scorer, Playmaker, Feeder; Has Tallied Over 1000 Points

(This is the seventh in a series of articles on outstanding Loyola athletes.)

by Mickey Parr

It's far from necessary to inform the students of Loyola that they have in their midst a basketball player who is on the extreme side of terrific.

Tall, black-haired Jim Lacy is the subject of our discussion, and also the chief objective in the defense plans of all of Loyola's opponents for the 1947-48 campaign.

Before going too deeply into the conquests notched by this titan of the courts, we'd like to offer a thought. Jim was quite outstanding last season, chief proof of which was his 667 points which ranked the lad as the second highest collegiate scorer in the nation.

Scorer, Playmaker, Feeder

He'll likewise put everything he has into this year's schedule, and he'll come through in great style; that's for sure. However, with the bulk of the pressure on his shoulders and every team on the schedule earnestly plotting to cut down on his scoring sorties, Jim may not repeat that gigantic 667.

So if occasionally somebody really clamps tight on him and he doesn't click for double figures, we won't decide that the great Lacy has slipped! We'll simply figure that he's doing an even better job, against stiff opposition. Remember, he's just as efficient as a playmaker and feeder.

They say that Canadians are practically born with a hockey stick in their hands. Well, we could almost say the same about Jim, only substitute a basketball in those steady hands.

Jim Lacy

Practiced At B. A. C.

Back in the days even before he reached high school, the Greyhound stalwart was already picking up pointers and developing fundamentals on the hardwood of the old Baltimore Athletic Club. That was his winter hangout, and those winters laid the foundation of what Jim is today.

This business of being the high scorer on his team is not a new experience for big Jim. He has done exactly that every year through his high school and college careers. From pacing an outstanding Fresh-

Hounds Beat C. U., 62-46, For Second M-D Victory

Loyola's Greyhounds dribbled their way to a pronounced 62-46 victory over Catholic University of Washington last Saturday night on the Evergreen court for their second straight conference win in two consecutive games.

After the first minute of play, Jim Lacy sent the Loyola quintet ahead on two free throws and the Hounds led from there on. Racking up a commanding 39-17 half time lead, the home team did not allow the visitors to come within more than fifteen points during the remainder of the fray.

Excell In Defensive Work

The Greyhounds displayed some excellent defensive play as Bill Johuson and Andy O'Donnell guarded the home nets almost impeccably. The Washingtonians were forced to shoot mostly from far out and lay up shots were few and far between.

Entire Squad Sees Action

Coach "Lefty" Reitz made little use of his starting five, which saw less than twenty minutes of action. Although the out-of-towners out-scored Reitz's charges during the second chapter 29-23, it can not be overlooked that Lefty employed his entire squad of sixteen players in the final period.

Lacy Leads Scoring

Jim Lacy, who was in action for a little over half the game, paced the scoring with six field goals and seven charity tosses for a total of nineteen, which placed the six foot two forward's grand total at eighty-six for the season. Causing plenty of trouble for the visitors, Mike Zedalis was next in scoring.

BROMO-SELTZER
for
HEADACHES

Flickering Flames in Their Motley Gues

hold the warmth of our good wishes. Through the years of candlelight, incandescent light and fluorescent light, this organization has served this community to the best of its ability. Another Christmas . . . another year . . . to you, good cheer!

Jos. Schloss & Son
14 N. CHARLES STREET

Founded 1855

B Squad Wins Towson Game

Loyola's B squad basketball team christened its 1947-48 season with a 20-16 win over the Towson State Teachers' B squad last Tuesday in a preliminary contest to the Loyola-Towson Mason-Dixon game.

They posted their second win by downing the University of Baltimore B Squad, 36-21, with John Simanski tallying ten points and Ed Hughes making six. Lambert, Welsh, Bailey, Lind, Reese and Setelik accounted for the remaining scoring.

Streak Broken

The junior Greyhounds suffered their first loss to Catholic U. in a torrid 40-37 contest. John Bailey led the scoring with fourteen points, making six field goals and two foul shots.

According to Lefty Reitz, director of athletics and head coach of Loyola, 37 hopefuls appeared for the first B squad practice, the largest number of candidates for this team in the history of the college.

The team was cut to fourteen men in the light of their ability as future Varsity players.

Fourteen Men On Squad

When asked who were most impressive players on the squad, Lefty said that Jim Setelik and Jack Simaski "looked good."

The other twelve members on the team are Tom Lind, Rip Roberts, Bob McKelvy, Whitey Welsh, Jack Whelan, Jim Baker, Charlie Reese, Paul Hughes, John Bailey, Jack Schanberger, Jack Doyle and Stu Galloway.

League Formed

The Mason-Dixon B squad League has been formed this year, and is comprised of the following: Catholic University, American University, Western Maryland, Washington College, Towson Teachers, Hopkins and Loyola.

The B squad will play approximately 17 games, most of these being preliminaries to Mason-Dixon Varsity contests.

The Lager House

The finest in food and drink

15

WEST EAGER STREET

Gifford
We have that
"Beautiful Corsage"
for your lady
FLORIST

1214 N. Charles St.

THE EDDIE LEONARD SPORTING GOODS CO.

Outfitters to Loyola College

169 Conduit St.
Annapolis, Md.

Waldorf Dress Suit Co.

Men's Formal Wear
108 W. Baltimore St.
CALvert 5344

Liquors - Cordials - Wines - Etc.

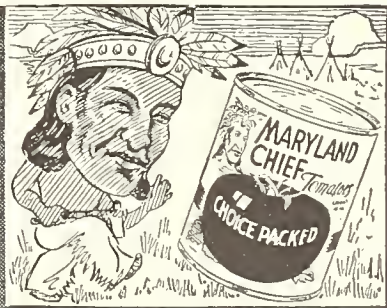

Charles Liquor Store
We Deliver
Ice Cold Beer

4009 Old York Rd.
Baltimore-18 - Bel. 9747

Basketball Scoring

Up to, and including the Catholic U. game:

Lacy	86
Zedalis	52
O'Donnell	28
Gisriel	26
Johnson	18
Feeley	16
Meinert	12
Bailey	12
Galvin	10
Gallagher	9
Barry	7
Cammarata	3
Barrett	2
Zephir	2
Schanberger	1

ASK YOUR GROCER

for

Maryland Chief

Tomatoes

Peas

Spinach

Beets

Carrots

French Style

Stringless Beans

Quality Canners for Over
70 Years

Packed by

J. LANGRALL & BRO., Inc., Balto., Md.

Loyola Students Waste $3200 Yearly on Pools

by William Heffner

Nothing, claims a cafeteria wag, is certain except death, taxes, and football pools. Those small slips of paper that appear on the campus every Tuesday during the football season represent over $3,000 in student money; so widespread has the "pool habit" become that at least one suggestion has been made to include them on the G. I. Bill.

A poll of the student body and chats with several of the fourteen campus distributors of the parlays reveal that 50% of the student body, or 500 scholars, sink part of their weekly budget in pools. One operator alone distributes an average of 200 per week.

63% Lose All

Unofficial estimates show that of those who court the odds regularly,

63% have marked up the season as a total loss. According to figures, apparently, you either win big or you don't win at all. The well-over-half of the players who are strangers to the winning bracket spent an average of $4.50 each trying to beat the parlays, while those who cashed in on their luck spent almost a third more doing it—$6.50. For this sum they received a return of $11.30 each, on the average.

"Those figures don't hold all the time," one of the gentlemen who is an intrinsic part of the system assured us. "This has been an unusual year, had for both operators and players. Upsets, due to weather and a lot of other factors, killed the odds. Those who won did so by luck; another year things would have been very different."

Odds Are 30-1

Just which way the odds would have shifted in other years he did not go on to say, but a recent article in the Notre Dame Scholastic (South Bend) on the same subject pegs the mathematical odds at 30 to 1 against the player. What spirals the odds so high is the carefully calculated spotting of points on unevenly matched teams. Headquarters for the parlay system have a scouting system probably more elaborate than that of any college; information is relayed on a day-to-day basis for every major team in the country. As the Scholastic puts it, "Points are figured closer than a movie-star's waist-line . . . it's getting so the quarterback has to

(Continued on page 2, col. 2)

Russia Topic Of Historians

Colorful personalities and events in the history of Russia will form the basis for a series of reports by members of the newly revived John Gilmary Shea History Academy at meetings to be held during the winter.

This is but one feature of the program of the Academy, which has been organized under the direction of Dr. William D. Hoyt of the History Department. A second phase of activity will be the beginning of research in preparation for the writing of the centennial history of Loyola College.

A third part of the Academy's program will include trips to historical places and to meetings of historical groups, made under Dr. Hoyt's guidance.

Officers elected for the current session are: Sidney L. Shapiro, president; John B. Reilly, vice-president; Richard J. Tommey, secretary.

Inauguration Ceremonies In Gymnasium

Staff Photo—Lightner

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION proceeds down the center aisle of the Gymnasium following the installation of the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., as President of Loyola College. The Very Rev. Martin C. D'Arcy, Provincial of the English Province of the Society of Jesus, delivered the main address.

The colors of thirty different degrees were represented in the procession which was televised through the facilities of station WMAR. The delegates held a total of 322 degrees.

Besides the television program, the Inauguration speeches were transcribed and rebroadcast later in the evening over station WBAL.

A reception for the delegates and honored guests was held in Faculty House after the ceremonies. The new President, Bishop Thomas J. McDonnell, the Dean, Senator Herbert R. O'Connor, Congressman Hugh A. Meade, Congressman George H. Fallon, William J. O'Donnell, president of the Alumni Association, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Mr. William J. Casey, chairman of the Lay Advisory Council and Mr. Felix J.

Goldsborough greeted the delegates. Father D'Arcy left immediately after the ceremonies in order to take a plane to New York.

Greyhound Schedules Annual Banquet

The annual banquet of the GREYHOUND Staff will be held on Thursday evening, January 15, it was announced last week by the editorial board.

Features of the banquet will be the awarding of GREYHOUND pins to retiring staff members, a guest speaker, and the installation of next semester's staff.

Club Members Deliver Talks

Continuing its current series of Seminars, the Mendel Club presented the third of its lectures on Tuesday, December 9 when William A. Pillsbury delivered an address on "The Theory of Muscular Contraction."

Pillsbury, a student of the College, introduced his topic by briefly reviewing the types of muscles. He chose as the special topic of his address the concise factors which are related to muscular contraction and to the advancement of leading theories pertinent to the subject.

Discusses Composition

Concerning himself mainly with the striated skeletal muscles, Pillsbury outlined their composition, chemically and biologically. He also discussed the conditions influencing their movements along with various investigations conducted on muscles.

To conclude his address, he compared disputed modern theories with outstanding laboratory experiments and then stated that the genuine theory of muscle contraction has yet to be advanced.

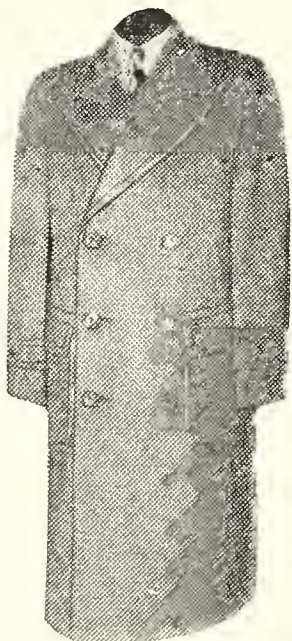

Fourth Scheduled

President Thomas J. Burkart announced that Philip M. Aidt will deliver the fourth seminar lecture on "Allergenic Pollens" on January 6.

Under the direction of the Rev. Joseph S. Didusch, S. J., the Club serves as a medium of advanced biological knowledge which the students prepare and present every three weeks.

Eddie's Polo Coats Have A High Rating For Style

Luxurious, rich double-breasteds, with soft smooth finish, and tailoring that says quality in every line and every stitch. They are warm yet light in weight, comfortable yet smart, roomy yet not bulky. Regulars, longs, shorts. Moderately priced, too.

"CLOTHES of CHARACTER"

EDDIE JACOBS

3 AND 5 REDWOOD ST.

SLATER SYSTEM, INC.

Industrial Food Service

Lombard at 25th

PHILADELPHIA - 46, PA.

Now Serving the Students of Loyola

Geo. J. Storch

LUMBER — MILLWORK — WALLBOARDS — HARDWARE
PAINTS — CUSTOM MILLWORK

2406-18 Greenmount Ave.

UNiversity 3500

MARTIN J. BARRY

When you stop we start

SA. 4180

SHOP REFRESHED HAVE A COCA-COLA

5¢

PLEASE return empty bottles promptly

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY OF BALTIMORE

© 1947, The Coca-Cola Company

We Telegraph Flowers
FRED C. BAUER
Florist and Nurserymen
181-187 Gittings Ave.
TUxedo 0146 - 2500

Complete Carry Out Service

Sabell's DELICATESSEN
4322 York Road

Meats
Sea Food—Frozen Foods
Package Goods
Open Everyday Except Monday

The
GREATEST SHOWS
IN RADIO

Are On

WBAL

1090 on your dial